

Do we need a new Abu Schoki?

Yesterday Al'Mashewa experienced yet another failed attempt on beloved Caliph's life. This time a stranger tried to attack Caliph with a dull damascene sword. Mere luck once again saved the Caliph's fragile remnants of life. And, to everyone's surprise, it was Abu Schoki who saved the day by accidentally running into the sword three times in a row. Currently Abu Schoki is residing in the local infirmary with severe internal bleeding. Luckily, none of the vital organs have been damaged. And after blood transfer from three different camels of the same blood group, the surgeon has announced with relief that Abu Schoki will live. Despite the joy about Abu Schoki's lucky survival, the chocolate junkies of Al'Mashewa have expressed concern about the masochistic tendency of their only provider. In order to avoid the risk of finding themselves without any suppliers, a group of enthusiasts have been sent out on a quest to find other marketers who would be willing to enter the chocolate market of Al'Mashewa and finally break the monopoly. A candidate has already been found and currently the experts of chocolate are running laboratory tests to find out, whether it is suitable for the indigestion of citizens of Al'Mashewa.

CNN

Camel News Network

The forbidden fruit

Thank Allah! Yesterday the Caliph finally gathered his strength and took the long awaited decision about the future of his beloved daughter Mazara. The suitor that Caliph has found to be most appropriate has turned out to be the well known skirt chaser and swindler Sand Ali. Despite the princess's desperate objections, the decision is final and the wedding is due tomorrow evening. The whole society of Al'Mashewa is holding its breath and hoping that nothing gets fucked up this time. Meanwhile, a confidential pink source has uncapped to the reporters of CNN that the princess has not spent last night entirely alone. And, surprise, surprise, it was not Sand Ali who would take her out on a magic carpet ride. The sources tell us that Dessert P has finally found the secret entrance into the princess's chambers and after a rather short foreplay, which involved getting intoxicated with the infamous beverage Kha-ilah and licking it off each other's bodies, they finally got down to business. Luckily, the princess has been properly trained by the Jinni aka Mywishisyourcommand and has received all the necessary equipment on her birthday, so the night is said to have turned out a mind-blowing success.

We at CNN are contemplating what the result of the recent happenings will turn out to be. Will Sand Ali notice the stolen virginity of Mazara? Will Mazara and Dessert P manage to elope? Are we to expect a semi-invisible infant to join the royal family in the following nine months?

A picture of the Dessert Prince taken with heat sensors

Sand Ali's
desert-proof
condoms!

Also available as Haremwater package

Today's Joke

A neighbor asked Musa. "Musa, I want to borrow your donkey." I am sorry, but I have already lent it out." As soon as he said that the donkey brayed. The sound came from Musa's stable. "But Musa, I can hear the donkey in there." said the neighbor. As he slammed the door in the man's face, Musa said with dignity.: "A man who believes the word of a donkey in preference to my word does not deserve to be lent any thing."

How to be a second choice

taken from the life of one of 13 wives part 3.2: The baby shower

Yesterday we had 86 guests; today another 20 guests were announced. It is supposed to be a sort of a "baby-party". Did I already mentioned that I hate this kind of parties!? But thanks Allah I have my Emre. I used my best acting skills and because of my "sickness" I was allowed to stay in my room. Naturally somebody had to look after me. So we started a anti-party with Al Gu'aida, Huraira and Husaina. I don't think that Ali even noticed that they weren't there! It was a great party much more fun than watching that nuisance for hours. We drank tea, a bit of Ali's sweetest wine and ate dry fruit while we learned: If your husband isn't interested in you anymore, you should hang out with your friends and simply have fun! We contemplated, whether to be or not to be. I mean, nobody of us five like Lubna more than before, since she still is boring and very manlike. So the question is: to be a woman or not to be. Soon we came to a conclusion that Emre is more of a woman than the other women who have a baby. Also it proves us that a woman does not need a baby to prove how feminine she is. It is something called charisma. But not to worry! Yesterday night Ali visited me."Aina, I love that you didn't give birth to a baby, you're still pretty as the first time I met you and although I find it hard to admit this, the squaller has destroyed the time with my beautiful wives.." Yes and so on. I think I won the match.

Hips don't lie

Pleasure for the caliph and his public the belly dancer Many people came to celebrate the end of Mazara's childhood. There were lot of performances and Mazara and her guests had so much fun. But the true highlight of the night were the belly dancers. Because ten girls and two boys turned the bazar into a place hot as hell.

mouthes. A cocktail of jealousy and horniness blew through the bazar. After the performance the Kaliph seemed to be healthy again. With a big smile he danced with the girls after the show. His advisers thought about booking the belly dancers again or better employ their as a kind of lively medicine. Unfortunately it isn't possible because the belly dancers who were famous all over the desert, are on a tour at the moment. Their tour is near to sold out so if you like to see this great show again you should push ahead. We wrote that belly dance is out but now we know it is definitely HOT! So don't wait much

W o m e n had to hold on to their husbands and many m e n forgot to close their

l o n g e r, go for searching a bellydance teacher!

The Astrologist

Libra: Today you are as exhausted as Sand Ali's one-eyed trouser snake after a night spent in the pleasure district of Al' Mashewa. Even though your batteries are empty, you can still change tack by grabbing the camel of life by the balls and show it who is boss!

Capricorn: Behold! Great danger up ahead! The stars only draw a blurry picture, but it seems as if a powerful adversary is coming your way, and he/she will not hesitate to give you a thorough knocking! Grit your teeth and wait until this sandstorm has washed over you.

Aries: Today, bitter personal sacrifices have to be made and it's not your place to question it. Your prince has hair like a camel on his back and smells like hibernating weasel? Banzai! Whatever you do: don't forget that it is all for the good of our city and its magnificent Caliph!

Gemini: In a fight between the Easter Bunny against a violent cyborg-mongoose from the future (with lasereyes), the mongoose will win in 99 out of 100 cases.

You might find it hard to find relevance for your life in this admittedly and seemingly bizarre statistic, but as the day progresses, you will know what we mean. Scout's Promise.

Leo: You feel that the world is especially hostile today and alas, this is actually confirmed by the stars! If people start to get on your nerves, Bali Aba has a variety of tools to get rid off of bothersome competitors. Rocket launchers are all the rage this season!

Scorpio: People find you as irritating as a rusty spoon under their eyelid. Consequently, it will be difficult to dip your furry camel into an oasis today. However, the right amount of alcohol used at the right time can do wonders to your desired but reluctant mate.

Pisces: After nearly a week of hard partying, your body is buckling under the weight of sleep deprivation, boozing and diverse unhealthy social activities. Don't give it any time to recover; the ultimate reign of mind over matter is at hand!

Sagittarius: After days of starvation in the desert, you are finally able to satisfy your needs. Prepare intensively for this night's endeavours. Make sure your gearbox is properly lubricated; sand is everywhere and can be very unpleasant. In your pants.

Aquarius: Woke up in someone else's bed today? Yes? Congratulations! You have finally put a positive twist to your life! No? In that case: your hourglass is running out of sand and you are urgently advised to take whatever blows your way.

Cancer: The stars predict impending doom! You will most likely die today, it's as simple as that. Be grateful that life was nice to you so far. If life hasn't been nice to you so far, be thankful that it won't be bothering you much longer.

Virgo: Both the stars and you know that you have sold yourself at less than fair value this week. Nevertheless, try to make the best out of it and show some backbone! This is best done in the innocuous setting of a musky smelling sleeping chamber.

Good hunting!
Taurus: You will meet a handsome jinni today who will anticipate your every wish! Consequently, you will find bliss in a bottle tonight, either one way or the other, or the other.

Get our meaning?
Camel: Better be prepared before going on your ride all through the dessert. There might be some dessert devils!